bismi-ll196; 129hi... have been taken as a quadrilitary root consonnanal b-s-m-l (it is a "consonnant") This abstract consonnal root has been used to derive the mala of the mala." The practice of giving special phrases often repeated is parallel to the phrase Allahu Akbar, which is called "Takbir" (also Ta'awwudh, etc.). and the method of coining a quadrilateral name from the consonants of that sentence is usually numbered as the first verse of the first sura, but according to the opinion adopted by Al-Tabari, precedes the first verse. It occurs at the beginning of each Sura del Koran, except for the ninth sura (see the discussion of the eighth and ninth chapter of the Koran at the beginning of each Sura the 30, where it preforms a letter from Sulayman to the Queen of Sheba, Bilqis. Meaning three definite names of Basmala, Allah, AR-Rahman and AR-R AR-Ra is no more intense, even in its objects the believer, considered by his mother Mary in a school in order that could be taught. [The teacher] said to him, "Write to Abraham." And Jesus said, "The teacher is the teacher is the teacher is the glory of God, the glory of God Muslims, who must begin each task after reciting the verse. It is often preceded by Ta'awwudh. There are several ahadiths that encourage Muslims to recite it before eating and drinking food. For example: Aisha reported the prophet said, "It's" When any of you wish to eat, you should mention the name of Allah at the beginning (Bismillah). If you forget to do it at the beginning, you should say Bismillah Awwalahu Wa Akhirahu (beginning the name of God, Satan tells his followers; It is "You have found a place to spend the night as well as the food." It is "From Muslimumaiyyah bin Makshi reported that the Prophet was sitting while a man was eating food. That man did not mention the name of God until only a bite of food was left. When he raised it in his mouth, he said, Bismillah Awwalahu Wa Akhirahu. The Prophet smiled at this and said, "Asatan had eaten with him but when he mentioned the name of Allah, Satan vomited all that was in his stomach. "From Abu Dawud and Al-Nasa'iwahshi Bin Harb reported that part of the Prophet's Sahaba said, "We eat but are not satisfied." He said, "Maybe you eat separately. "The Sahaba has responded positively. He then said, "Eat together and mention God's name on your food, it will be blessed for you." In this method the letters are arranged in the following order: Abjad, Hawwaz, Kalaman. Warshat, Sakhaz, Zazagh; And each letter has an arithmetic value assigned by a thousand. (This agreement was done, most likely in the third century of Hijrah during the ambassure period, following the practices of speakers of other Semitic languages such as Aramaic, Hebrew, Syriac, Chaldean etc.) taking into account the numerical values of all letters Basmala, according to Order Abjad, the total is 776. In the Indian subcontinent the Abjad numbers have become quite popular. Some people, mostly in India and Pakistan, use 786 as a substitute for Bismillah ("in the name of God, or the Quran verses in ordinary newspapers, which can be the subject of dirt or come into contact with hollow materials. This practice does not go back to the time of Muhammad and is not universally accepted by Muslims. In Arabic calligraphy, it is the most widespread reason, more than Shahadah. The cultural references Iranian authorities have allowed an album of songs by the English band Queen to be published in Iran in August 2004, partly because the song "Bohemian Rhapsody" contained several exclamations of the word "Bismillah". [4] The main singer of the group, Freddie Mercury, was born in Zanzibar as Bulgarian Farrokh from Indian Parsi and was proud of his Persian descent. [5] (The Persian-speaking texts appear in a second song from the Queen, "Mustapha", on the jazz album.) At the beginning of each of him's album, the American rapper Mos Def recites Basmala. Rapper Lupe Fiasco plays Basmala after the first track of his album Food and Liquor. The bt song "Firewater" contains the phrase. In 2008, the Remix of the artist Hip Hop envelope Rhymes' Single "Arab Money" has gained notorietà and controversy due to his use of Basmala in the choir.
